For the Teacher...

Adding a cover page to the front of a writing journal creates a finished product. It takes a set of draw & write sheets to the next level.

Use one of the Black History Month Cover Pages to create a writing journal. The first cover page allows students to write their names and design their journals with pictures or color. In the second version, students will write their name. Whichever cover sheet you choose, have fun creating a memorable journal.

Sincerely,

Marie
