The Mayflower and the Pilgrims

A long time ago, in 1620, a group of people called the Pilgrims sailed from England to America on a small ship named the Mayflower. The Pilgrims wanted to find a place where they could live safely and practice their religion freely.

The trip across the ocean was hard. The Mayflower was crowded, and the ocean was rough. After 66 days, the Pilgrims finally saw land. They landed in what is now Massachusetts, near Cape Cod.

Before leaving the ship, the Pilgrims made an agreement called the Mayflower Compact. It said they would work together and make fair rules for everyone. Then they started building a place to live called Plymouth.

The first winter was very cold, and many Pilgrims got sick. Luckily, the Wampanoag people helped them learn how to grow corn and find food. With this help, the Pilgrims were able to survive and build their new home.
